Judge Cox. If he delivers the charge to the jury on the same basis we care nothing for the exact words of our instructions. Scoville maintained that Judge Cox had sustained the main points of defense and that the question of a reasonable doubt was left just as it ought to go to the jury. When asked whether he thought the jury would disagree, Scoville said, "I think they will agree on acquittal. I do not think the jury will be influenced by popular feeling. Judge Cox has thought more of his future reputation than present popularity."

Reed expressed himself as well pleased with the judge's instructions.

John W. Guiteau is also well pleased. He thinks that the feeling against his brother is changed and thinks the jury will disagree if it don't acquit.

After court adjourned yesterday Scoville, Reed and J. W. Guiteau called upon Judge Cox and congratulated him, thanking him for his impartiality. Judge Cox remarked that he thought prosecution would be better satisfied than defence.

Robeson's Bill on Land Grants.

A bill introduced in the house by Representative Robeson, provides that grants of public lands to certain railroad companies and states to aid in construction of roads and railroads for the benefit of certain corporations, so far as the same have not been earned by fulfillment of conditions of the grant, be forfeited and revert to the United States and be opened to settlement, and that entries therefor be received at the land offices in the districts in which the lands are located.

Washington Notes.

The senate committee on the treasury contingent fund to-day examined Senator Sherman.

President Arthur sent Alex. H. Stephens a handsome basket of flowers swarming with his congratulations on his attaining his seventieth birthday.

The Flipper case has reached General Swaim.

House committee on Indian affairs to-day heard arguments in opposition to the passage of a bill introduced by Bland ratifying the alleged act of the general council of the Choctaw nation. The remarks of delegates were substantially the same as their protests previously filed.

Under advice of the attorney-general the secretary of the navy has issued orders stating that future promotions are by law required to be made by appointment from the corps of assistant surgeons according to seniority, and not according to competitive examination.

A delegation of Kentuckians called upon the president in interest of Gen. Burbridge for a foreign mission to-day.

A delegation from Louisiana wanted ex-Governor Pinchbeck appointed collector of the port of New Orleans.

Voorhees' bill to repeal the Atlantic and Pacific Railroad Company's grant proposed the repeal of the grant to that road except so far as the road was completed July 4, 1879, and restores to the government the lands hitherto reserved along uncompleted portions.

There will be another call of bonds of extended 6's in a few days, probably to-morrow. The amount and date of payment is not definitely determined upon.

THE STAR ROUTE TRIALS.

Arraignment of the Thieves.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11.

The star route cases came up to-day. Bliss conducted the prosecution. All accused were present. Bliss stated the position taken by the government in these cases and made a severe arraignment of the methods pursued by defendants in transferring property from one party to another just before the award of contracts, so that one piece of land worth a few thousand dollars would represent bonds to the amount of nearly three million dollars, and said that under the present law the postmaster general was absolutely powerless to prevent perpetration of such frauds. At the conclusion of Bliss' address the first case was called, that against Cabell, Minnox and Dixon.

Postoffice Inspector Tidball, called for the prosecution, identified the statement written by himself June 2d last, and signed by Dickson, in which Dickson, who is a relative by marriage of Cabell, charges Cabell and Minzie with a conspiracy with himself to defraud the government of legal security by presenting worthless bonds. Tidball was subjected to a searching examination by counsel for defense, tending generally to make him acknowledge the government had sustained no loss from these contracts. He said he had been ordered by Postmaster General James to make these investigations, and was not assisted by Gibson and Woodward, although examinations took place in the same room. Tidball in the course of his testimony said the bad feeling existing between Cabell and Dickson was because the latter refused to continue as Cabell's bondsman. He did not remember where route 9910 was. He had obtained the information which provided the basis of his statement from government records, having again confessed his inability to show how the government lost by those contracts.

He was interrupted by Col. Bliss, who turning to opposing counsel said, "I am willing to admit just this point that the government has lost no money by this contract,—

But here he was interrupted by Judge Jere Wilson, of defendant's counsel, who exclaimed in an animated manner: "We want no concessions from the other side. Conspiracy has been charged against my clients. Perhaps we will be able to prove the charge of a base conspiracy to injure instead of justice to other persons."

P. P. Woodward, another postoffice inspector, was called to testify and his examination took the same general direction of Tidball's.

Court adjourned until to-morrow.

ARCTIC EXPLORATION.

News from the Steamer Rodgers concerning its Search for the Jeannette.

CHICAGO, Jan. 11.—Chas. F. Putnam, a graduate of the Annapolis naval academy in 1873, who joined the U. S. steamship Rodgers in her search for the Jeannette, writes an interesting letter to his mother in this city. The first section of the letter is dated "U. S. Steamship Rodgers, Arctic Ocean, Aug. 20, 1881." In it he speaks of being at St. Michaels, in the Pacific ocean, from August 3d to 11th and hearing nothing of the Jeannette or her party, and on the 11th sailing for Plover bay on the Siberian coast. This contradicts the statement of M. Soulowski in a recent dispatch that the Chasseur met the Rodgers on the 5th of August, and that the Rodgers was steering for Herald island.

In point of fact the Chasseur could not at that time have been in the Arctic, and the Rodgers, which certainly had not, was steering not for Herald island, but for Plover bay. The Rodgers reached Plover bay on the 16th of August, and Master Putnam says did not find the Russian man-of-war Strelock, and therein he again contradicts M. Soulowski. That vessel, he says, had left on the 13th, leaving word it would meet the Rodgers at St. Lawrence Bay. They did meet the Strelock on the 18th, and on the 19th passed through Behrings Straits in company with her into the Arctic ocean. Master Putnam says: "We have heard of several sledge parties, both on the northern coast of Siberia and on the coast near Point Barrow, and some think it may turn out that some of the Jeannette's party have left the ship and started back by sledge. We shall investigate these stories, first going to Cape Serdzekamen on the north coast of Siberia, and thence to the eastward, where we will find the whalers and learn from them what they have heard." He speaks of the fine weather, the thermometer being 40 all day, with no ice anywhere. The Rodgers was prepared to remain two years, he says, to find the Jeannette, but he expects they will be in San Francisco by October, 1882. On the 20th they had lost sight of the Strelock. On Sept. 14th he writes: "We have surveyed Wrangel Land and are now about to start north, looking for more land, where the Jeannette may be possibly found." On Sept. 27th he writes that their work for the year is about finished and they are going to St. Lawrence Bay to winter. He refers to a party to be left at Cape North in Siberia to make sledge journeys along the coast. It was Putnam himself who was left in charge of this party subsequently.

Election Changes Contemplated.

LONDON, Jan. 10.—A Paris correspondent says: Notwithstanding the favorable result of the senatorial elections, the government will persevere with the revision of the constitution. The changes intended with regard to the election of senators will increase the representation of large towns and deprive the senate of the right of rejecting money bills. The government also proposes the scrutin de liste system for the election of members of the chamber of deputies.

CONGRESSIONAL.

Senate.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.

Beck, in his speech, opposed the bill as a cunning scheme of monopolists for delay, to which they had resorted not only as a means of preventing legislation by the present congress, but of whitewashing all the enormities of a high protective system. He wanted to have immediate action upon the tariff, and asserted that all the commission would find as a basis of judicious reduction of taxation could be presented by the committee of the senate and furnished the ways and means committee of the house in six weeks. The wise men whom it was proposed to have the president select might refuse to hear whatever did not suit them, and would not be accountable for misrepresentations in their report. The evident purpose of so-called protection, as shown by the declaration of their organs and convention, was to have a commission to which would be committed their interests. The declaration of the senator from Vermont, [Morrill], that the changes should be made by friendly hands, and not by ill-informed and reckless revolutionists, was easily understood. This, however, was impeachment of the integrity and capacity of congress, one house of which was charged by the constitution with the duty of originating bills for raising revenue or changing taxation, upon the theory that the accountability of its members every two years would make them careful. In the last congress, with a democratic majority in the senate, there was some plausibility in some questions of Bayard and other democrats, who then supported a similar bill, that a commission unfairly composed by the president could be rejected. Now, when an order to reject did not exist, he (Beck) was amazed at the surrender by any democrat to a republican president and to protected monopolists of the constitutional obligations and powers of representatives of the people. Repudiating the idea of free trade, as we were not free to select what as an original proposition might be considered the best mode of raising revenue, but were to take care none of our industrial interests were destroyed or paralyzed. He regarded the term "free traders," as applied to the democratic party because of its "tariff for revenue only" planks of 1876 and 1880 as an absurdity. It favored raising of a much larger portion of the necessary revenue from customs dues, and recognized that of $340,000,000 required for the next year, $200,000,000 must be obtained by tariff taxation, and had never thought of depriving American industries of the protection a proper revenue tariff would afford. For one he would arrange taxes so as to aid all industries and particularly those which were started on the belief that they would be fostered by congress. In the last few years the revenue from tariff had risen and had not dwindled yearly. This, however, was not because of, but in spite of, protection, and was due to scarcity in Europe and abundant harvests at home, the latter being stimulated by land grants to corporations and settlers. Congress did not for it could not, prevent a foreigner from selling at his own price, but it did rob our farmers who furnish nine-tenths of our exports, in making them pay for things they bought in foreign markets where their sales were made, 15 per cent. more than the seller asked, and that much more than anybody else paid. Protection that gave congressional license to a few wealthy combinations to extort from American farmers and laborers a large portion of their earnings was such protection as the wolf gave the lamb. Another evidence was our commercial degradation as shown in the loss of our carrying trade, thus compelling us to pay foreigners $130,000,000 yearly for acting as our carriers, brokers and insurance agents in our commercial relations, together with an almost total disappearance of our 60,000 sailors of 1860. The present system cut down the sales of American manufacturers at home and abroad as was shown in the high prices curtailing sales at home and meagre exports of our manufactures. That it had swindled American agriculturists was manifest in its compelling them to pay $6 for coal worth only $3, and purchasable elsewhere in the world at that sum. That it had cost the people five times more than it had produced to the treasury was shown in connection with the passage of the bill of 1872, making a reduction of 10 per cent on certain classes of manufactures when the statement was made by Burchard that the reduction upon but six classes, lessened the revenue not quite $10,000,000, but lightened taxation $54,000,000. This 10 per cent protection taken off in 1872 was restored by the senator from Vermont and his allies, in 1875, on the pretense of making an increase, but the returns of 1871 show instead of an increase a loss of $30,000,000 in revenue. That it has favored smuggling, enriched dishonest officials and bankrupted honest merchants, was shown in the investigation in 1875 into the moiety system. This was the system of which the senator from Vermont was so proud, and against the continuance of which he [Beck] protested.

Our manufacturers should no longer be content with home monopoly, but should exert themselves in foreign markets. As to the alleged pauperism and discontent of English laboring classes under free trade, these have their counterpart in railroad riots and other turbulent scenes witnessed in this country under protection and with abundant harvests. Under free trade England has attained her commercial supremacy, and the wages of laborers and wealth of her people had increased beyond all precedent. He gave statements that wages of English laborers were comparatively low, while necessaries had increased from 33 to 50 per cent. Her population had increased from 26,000,000 in 1841 to 35,000,000 in 1881; English exports had increased 450 per cent. since 1840, and the annual savings of her working classes to £24,600,000 in 1840 to £76,500,000 in 1880. English laborers and mechanics to-day receive much higher wages than like labor and skill commands in any European country, and her manufacturers compete successfully with all others. Reports by Secretary Blaine based upon the statements of consuls and by other authorities, showed that as compared with the English the purchasing power of the wages of Americans was reduced by our tariff from 33 to 50 per cent. The failure of our harvest, or war between nations who are our ocean carriers, thus cutting off that means of getting our exports to market, while causing ruin to many of our people, would have the effect of breaking up our miserable protective system as it did in England. After detailing at much length the incongruities and inequalities of the present system and advocating a tariff for revenue framed so as to be readily understood and adjusted upon advalorem principles as far as practicable, Beck closed by criticising with some severity the recommendation of the secretary of the treasury for withdrawal of silver certificates and placing currency in the hands of national banks.

Morrill said he had never sought to make the tariff a party question. If the senator chose to make it a party question upon him rested the responsibility. Morrill then combatted some points presented by Beck and said as to the cotton tax, of which the senator complained, that that was about the only tax paid by the south, while the north, east and west, paid thousands of millions to support the government. If he (Morrill) was a southern man he would institute that very policy to-day; that is to say of levying an internal revenue tax on every pound of cotton produced in this country, except that for family use, and making a drawback of an equal amount upon manufactured articles, as thread, yarn, etc., sent abroad. He believed this would in a short time double southern exports.

Here the debate, which was continued by unanimous consent, terminated, and the chair laid before the senate the unfinished Sherman funding bill.

House.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 10.

Page, under instructions of the committee on commerce, said the bill by Buckley to give American registry to foreign built iron and steam vessels had been returned to the committee on ways and means. This he claimed to be an improper reference, since the matter belongs to the committee on commerce. A call for regular order took him off the floor and the matter went over.

Cox followed Haskell and then McCord of Iowa sent to the clerk's desk and had read a resolution which he said he would offer at the proper time as a substitute for the pending resolution. It recites that Utah is under control of an association which maintains immoral doctrines and practices polygamy in violation of the constitution of the United States, and insurrectionary in defiance of the legislative, executive and judicial power of the government; that the territory thus usurped by the barbarous institution of polygamy belongs to the United States; that the federal government stands responsible in the sight of God and at the bar of the enlightened public opinion of the civilized world for a continuance of this crime against morality and marriage; that the institution of polygamy is an usurpation of Mormons, incapable of any constitutional existence and utterly lawless, and resolving that the solemn duty is cast on congress to wholly absolve the federal government from any sufferance or countenance of the institution of polygamy, and by every means in its power enforce the laws against it; that it is inconsistent with the rights and dignity of the house that the territory of Utah, which is so flagrantly controlled by the institution of polygamy should be entitled to representation on the floor of the house and that the delegates claiming a seat from that territory are hereby disqualified, and that all papers in this case be referred to the committee on elections, with instructions to present a bill declaring with effect the judgment of the house as herein expressed.

McCord proceeded to make an exhaustive argument in support of his proposition. Burrows of Michigan argued in favor of referring the whole matter to the committee on elections.

Brown and Voorhees contended Campbell should be given his seat on prima facie case.

Converse of Ohio took still another ground, holding that upon his certificate taken in connection with other papers in the case Cannon was entitled to be sworn in.

Hiscock and Cox having engaged in an oral war, in which Robinson joined Hiscock, Haskell demanded the previous question, which being seconded cut off Marsh, who desired to offer a resolution directing the committee on elections to report on the fact whether either of the claimants were practical polygamists.

Haskell stated he desired to offer a resolution giving certain instructions to the committee on elections in case the matter was referred to it. It was read as follows:

WHEREAS, Polygamy has been for many years, and is now practiced in several territories of the United States in contravention of the laws thereof, in section 5652, revised statutes, and

WHEREAS, There have been admitted into former congresses of the United States delegates from the territory of Utah, who have been received in the house of representatives as such, while maintaining polygamous marital relations . . . in contested election case of Cannon vs. Campbell, therefore be it

Resolved, As the fixed and final determination of the house of representatives of the forty-seventh congress, that no person guilty of living in polygamous marital relations, or teaching or inculcating others to do so, is entitled to be admitted to this house as a delegate from a territory of the United States.

Reading of this resolution was received with applause.

Randall raised a point of order that the resolution was not germane to the case under consideration. He protested against the idea that in voting upon the pending resolution members were expressing any opinion upon the subject of polygamy.

The speaker said the resolution did not give such instructions to the committee as were comprehended in the rules, and ruled it in order.

Reed's substitute was then adopted, 189 to 21, the negative votes being all republicans. The contested case was thereby referred to the committee on elections.

The motion was defeated, yeas 95, nays 133, and the resolution referred to the committee on rules.

Haskell then rose to a question of privilege and sent to the clerk's desk and had read a resolution which he failed to have considered yesterday, declaring it to be the fixed and final determination of the forty-seventh congress that no person maintaining polygamous marital relations or teaching or inciting others so to do is entitled to be admitted to the house of representatives as delegate from any territory.

Randall did not think the resolution came within the rules as a question of privilege. If it ever had on such a question it was not so now. The house had referred the Utah contested case to the committee on elections, and so far as the house was concerned this question must be considered as res adjudicata.

Haskell contended the resolution presented a question of the highest privilege, inasmuch as it affected the dignity of the house. It has been charged by the public press that Gentile polygamists were in jail, but that Mormon polygamists were seated on the floor of congress. That was a charge made affecting the dignity of this house and all houses of congress. This question should not be dodged or attempted to be dodged by points of order. Gentlemen had said yesterday they were opposed to polygamy. Let them not put themselves in the position of men who were in favor of a law, but were not in favor of enforcing it.

Reagan opposed the resolution on the ground that it excluded persons from membership on a presumed state of facts without examination or investigation.

Speer argued the resolution did not present the question of privilege. If the gentleman proposed to fix new qualifications to membership, his resolution must go to the committee on judiciary. The fact that Cannon was not a member took the question out of the privilege question.

Mills contended that as there was no member of the house charged with polygamy the resolution could not present a question of privilege.

Cannon of Illinois took the ground that the question was not one of privileges, inasmuch as whether adopted or rejected, it could have no effect upon any one. Haskell declared his resolution did not propose a law, it simply asked the house to express an opinion on the question of polygamy.

The speaker submitted the question whether the resolution presented a privileged question. By a vote of yeas 109, nays 139, the house determined no question of privilege was involved in the resolution.

Haskell then desired to offer as privileged question the resolution given above, but was cut off by adjournment.

Senate.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11.

Nearly every senator present having submitted petitions for a commission on the alcoholic liquor traffic, Blair said it was evidence of a universal demand for legislation on the subject.

Morgan offered a resolution directing the woman suffrage committee to inquire into suffrage in Utah and report a bill to annul any existing law conferring suffrage on Utah women; resolution went over.

Vest spoke on the Sherman refunding bill. The democratic bill of last year had saved the country $15,000,000.

President pro tem announced the special committee on rights of women, as follows: Lapham, Anthony, Ferry, Blair, George, Jackson and Fair.

Anthony introduced a bill providing for the retirement of any person who served fifty years or upwards in either house of congress.

On motion of Pendleton the house resolution for recognition of the services of the late superintendent of coast survey, Carlisle P. Patterson, was concurred in.

Minutes of the general assembly of the Presbyterian church of the United States, in session at Buffalo last May, condemning polygamy, were submitted.

Morgan had read a petition from members of the Omaha tribe of Indians praying congress to grant each one of them a clear and full title to the land on which he has worked. Fifty-two signed the petition which set forth they have taken out certificates of allotment of land or entered upon claims within the limits of the Omaha reservation, and have worked upon their respective lands from three to ten years; that each farm has from five to fifty acres under cultivation, etc.

Dawes complained of the laxness of the Indian commissioners in this matter and the petition was referred to the committee on Indian affairs.

Morgan offered a resolution which was laid over to be printed, directing the special committee on woman's suffrage to inquire into the matter of suffrage in Utah, and report a bill to set aside any existing laws conferring suffrage upon women in that territory.

Brown offered a resolution which was laid over, supplying each senator not chairman of a committee with a clerk. Adjourned.

House.

Orth offered a resolution instructing the civil service committee to inquire into the expediency of providing a different form from the present for appointment of committees of the house with leave to report at any time.

The speaker said it would be referred to the committee on rules.

Orth objected and moved an order to the civil service committee. Motion lost—87 to 139.

Bingham, chairman of the committee on postoffices and post routes, reported back the resolution calling on the postmaster-general to transmit a list of detail statements of routes in which transportation service had been discontinued, decreased, changed, restored, increased, expedited or established, since the 4th of March, 1881, specifying the time, cause and extent of the same, on whose recommendation, petition report or, suggestion was granted, and the nature thereof, and giving the name, length and terminus of each of said routes, the general kind, amount and cost of such service on each route, and the name and residence of every contractor thereof; adopted.

The chairman of the committee on appropriations reported a bill making appropriations of $540,000 for the final expenses of the tenth census, and gave notice that to-morrow he would ask to have the bill considered.

Several bills reported from committee on claims were placed upon the private calendar, which is only considered Friday of each week.

The bill to incorporate the Garfield memorial hospital was placed on the head of the calendar.

Burrows asked leave to introduce and put on its final passage a bill defining the qualifications of territorial delegates. It provides that no person shall be delegate from any territory under 25 years of age and seven years a citizen of the United States, and no person living in bigamy or polygamy shall be eligible.

Armfield and Singleton objected and Burrows stated that he had mistaken the sentiment of the other side and gave notice that he would introduce the bill again Monday.

Ward introduced a bill providing for a commission to consider and report what legislation is necessary for the better regulation of commerce among states; referred.

Willis offered a resolution calling on the secretary of war for information as to what additional work is necessary at the falls of the Ohio river to complete improvement; adopted.

Cobb offered a resolution calling on the secretary of the interior for the names of all business firms and persons who prosecute claims for pensions before the department; adopted.

Robeson introduced a bill to declare certain lands granted railroad companies forfeited. A contest arose as to whether the bill belonged to the committee on public lands or Pacific railroad. Pending decision, the speaker laid before the house a message from the president transmitting a communication from the secretary of the interior relative to the sale of certain Indian lands in Fort Hall military reservation; a letter from the secretary of the treasury transmitting the statement of expenditures under appropriation for contingent expense of the treasury department for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1881; a letter from the secretary of the treasury transmitting the annual report of the national board of health; report of managers of the national home for disabled volunteers, and a memorial from the general assembly of the Presbyterian church in reference to polygamy; all referred.

Monetary Matters.

CHICAGO, Jan. 11.—Washington special. S. Dana Horton, secretary of the international monetary commission, is here on his return from England. He is dissatisfied with the recommendations of the secretary of the treasury respecting silver, and thinks they will prove a serious injury to the conference.

Burchard, director of the mint, wants the bill to pass for recoinage of trade dollars, as the experiment of coining them was a failure. There are, he thinks, not less than seven millions of them in circulation in the United States, and practically none in China. The argument that if recoined they would prove a speculative field is therefore worthless.

SOUTH AMERICA.

Revolutionary Conspiracy in Venezuela.

HAVANA, Jan. 10.—Advices from Venezuela to Dec. 29th state that a revolutionary conspiracy at San Thomas has been discovered. President Guzman Blanco is uneasy. A strong guard surrounds his house, and no person is admitted unless he gives one hour's notice. The president has about 10,000 men at his disposal.

THE MORMON CONTEST.

SPECIAL DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN.

A Young Anti-Mormon Interviewed.

A Graphic's Washington correspondent says: A son of the late Orson Pratt, one of the original Mormon apostles, is in the city. He is an ardent anti-Mormon. To-day he said, "We have been waiting twenty years, thinking that each successive congress would do something for Utah, but it has never been done. When the Poland bill was passed we hoped something from it, but the vital parts were taken from it so that it really amounted to nothing. You ask me how it happens that I am not a Mormon. I'll tell you. I am the son of my father's first wife, and had a mother who taught me the evils of the system. There are many such persons in Utah and the tendency of their education is opposed to Mormonism. They grow up hostile to the institution and more than half appear to be disgusted with all the forms of Mormonism. Some of the older and more fanatical Mormons have the idea that the government cannot deal with them. They think they are more powerful than the United States. Of course this is not true of the more intelligent classes such as Cannon, for example. They know better. What we want is a blow struck at polygamy. We want it wiped out. I don't care a straw for the simple unseating of Cannon on a technicality. If nothing is to be done to put down polygamy I would as soon have Cannon in congress as Campbell, and perhaps rather. It is not Cannon we are fighting, but polygamy.

Pratt was asked what would be the result in Utah of unseating Cannon, provided the committee on elections reported against him?

He replied, the case in that event would, I suppose, be referred back to the people and the Mormons would elect another man. The vote in this case shows about the proportion of Mormons and gentiles. It is over ten to one in favor of the Mormon population, and of course they can always carry the election as long as they have the right to vote.

Governor Murray's Views.

Governor Murray of Utah said to-day: I am not in favor of dividing the territory of Utah as they have proposed, and attaching a portion of it to Colorado and Nevada. This would accomplish no good. It would simply insure Nevada to the democrats, and also most likely turn Colorado into a democratic state. Mormons are democrats. I am in favor of abolishing the present form of territorial government and administer the affairs of the territory by a council appointed by the president. What we are striving for is agitation of the subject, and to arouse congress to action. We want Cannon dethroned for the moral effect it will have on the polygamists.

Congressman Reed on the Evil.

Congressman Reed, of Maine, remarked to-day that the great difficulty in the way of effective legislation against polygamy, in his opinion, was that under our system the enforcement of laws depended upon the local sentiment of the community to which it applies. Congress might enact statutes, but if the weight of public sentiment was against it, it would be inoperative. This was the case in the south, and it had become so apparent that it was useless to attempt to force a law upon a community whose weight of public opinion was hostile to it, that the position had to be practically abandoned. This was the trouble in Utah.

Broken up by a Row.

MT. VERNON, Ky., Jan. 11.—There was a disgraceful scene in court room yesterday during the trial by Judge Bradley of a murder case. John Mulleur, a drunk and insolent witness, was first fined and then ordered under arrest by the court. He and his father resisted, and both being powerful men, made a wild scene of disorder, during which the audience and jury fled in a panic. Several shots were fired, and many persons knocked down, but no corpses were discovered. Both men were finally jailed. The trial was put over to next term, the jury having disappeared.

"I had a fall from a ladder and sprained my wrist so badly," says A. B. Palmer, of Cumberland Court House, Va., "that I lost all use of my arm. I procured a bottle of St. Jacobs Oil, and, after rubbing my arm with it I obtained immediate relief. I used it likewise for neuralgia, and find it also effectual for burns, bruises, etc."

Russian Justice.

ST. PETERSBURG, Jan. 11.—The authorities have liberated on bail the officers, Meravinki, Ijtagliff and Farsoff, recently sentenced to exile for neglect in failing to discover the Little Garden street mine, pending appeal to the czar. The sentence of exile passed upon the hussar officer connected with killing a merchant in a restaurant was commuted to 16 months' confinement in the fortress.

A LADY'S WISH.

"Oh, how I do wish my skin was as clear and soft as yours," said a lady to her friend. "You can easily make it so," answered the friend. "How?" inquired the first lady. "By using Hop Bitters, that makes pure rich blood and blooming health. It did for me, as you observe." Read of it.—Cairo Bulletin.

EQUITABLE

LIFE ASSURANCE SOCIETY,

120 Broadway, New York.

LIFE INSURANCE PROFITS DEMONSTRATED BY ACTUAL SETTLEMENTS MADE IN 1880.

The Society is now paying maturing Tontine Policies with the following remarkable results:

POLICIES CARRIED TEN YEARS WITH THE RETURN OF ALL PREMIUMS PAID AND INTEREST THEREON.

1st Example: Policy No. 43,563, issued May 25, 1869. Amount......$10,000 00
Total premiums paid (11 years)...... 5,504 60
The assured is now entitled to draw, in cash, $6,455.80, having had besides $10,000 of assurance for eleven years. 115 per cent. of premiums paid, returnable in cash.

This example and those which follow show that

LARGER PROFITS ARE PAID POLICY-HOLDERS THAN ARE NOW DECLARED BY ANY OTHER COMPANY.

2d Example: Policy No. 58,548, issued Dec. 30, 1870. Endowment 20 years. Tontine Period ten years.
Amount......$10,000 00
Total premiums paid (10 years)...... 7,539 00
The assured on Dec. 30, 1880, will be entitled to draw in cash, $9,033.50, 120 per cent of the premiums paid.

These results, although predicted by carefully made estimates, are

NOT ESTIMATES, BUT ACTUAL CASH RETURNS.

3d Example: Policy No. 41,021, issued March 27, 1869. Amount......$5,000 00
Total premiums paid...... 2,908 35
In this case the assured withdrew, March 27, 1880, in cash, $3,312.45, being 114 per cent. of premiums paid.

Many policies will be thus paid in 1881, showing

CASH RETURNS OF FROM 100 TO 120 PER CENT. OF THE PREMIUMS PAID.

Assets securely invested of $43,000,000. Surplus, nearly $10,000,000. The Society's popularity is shown by the fact that for the past eleven years the total amount of new policies issued has been greater than that of any other company in existence, thus making its average

ANNUAL NEW BUSINESS LARGER THAN THAT OF ANY OTHER COMPANY.

The Society pays death claims promptly and in full. Its policies are clear and concise, and with no unreasonable conditions.

EVERY POLICY BECOMES INCONTESTABLE AFTER THREE YEARS.

THURSDAY MORNING, JAN. 12, 1882.

A SOUND PROPOSITION.

The bill introduced by Senator Logan to set apart the whole proceeds of the liquor tax levied by the United States for support of common schools is in accord with an idea often advocated by this journal. It ought to be approved by the whole country. It would supply a magnificent fund for education of the people, and the fund would be a steady and practically a perpetual one. We only hope that some one in congress will move and press an amendment to include in the bill the revenue, derived from tobacco. This, as well as the liquor tax, could be devoted to no object so worthy as that of public education. Let us see what the liquor and tobacco tax would amount to. The following statement is from the revenue returns of the year ended June 30, 1880, the last for which full statistics are at hand.

Spirits	$61,185,509
Tobacco	35,870,140
Fermented liquors	12,829,803
Total	$109,885,452

This is a splendid sum. Divided among the people of the whole country on an equitable principle, it would probably be sufficient, with the aid of income from state school funds, to support all necessary schools of the primary sort, and obviate all direct taxation for the purpose. Nor could this revenue be devoted to any other object in which the people of the whole country have an equal interest. It would be an absolutely fair disposition of the money. No class or section could complain of it. If the users of liquors and tobacco should object to payment of the tax for such a purpose, or complain that the burden of supporting the schools was thrown on them, they could simply quit a bad habit and be all the better for it.

We are glad too that this proposition has been brought forward in congress, for the reason that it will meet the effort which the protectionists are making to abolish all internal taxes in order to strengthen the tariff monopoly. It is supposed that if these taxes were repealed it would clinch the high tariff for an indefinite period upon the country. There is no doubt that many people are misled by the specious sophistries put forward as arguments in support of "protection." But even they could easily understand that free schools are more desirable than free whisky, and would hardly allow the protected monopolists to take away from the schools their means of support and let whisky have free course, in order that the said protected monopolists might fasten in perpetuity on the country the system on which they thrive at the expense of the great body of the people.

Taxation of liquors and tobacco is the favorite method of raising revenue in all civilized countries. Great Britain raises $80,000,000 by internal taxes on spirits, and $41,000,000 by taxes on malt and malt liquors, besides $39,000,000 on importations of rum, brandy, wine, etc. As there are no considerable manufactures of tobacco, comparatively little is realized from the internal tax on this commodity, but the imports of tobacco are taxed $40,000,000. In this country the conditions are precisely reversed and the tax on tobacco, to be effective, must be an internal tax. In France, the tobacco monopoly brings in a revenue of $68,000,000, and the tax on liquors $82,000,000. In Russia the excise on tobacco and spirits brings in $140,000,000, or half the whole revenue. The question whether these taxes ought to be abolished in this country will quickly be decided in the negative when it is proposed in earnest to make the revenue from them the main stay of public education. Senator Logan's bill points in the right direction.

"PROTECTION" OF WOOL.

"In Oregon and Washington territory," says the Salem Statesman, "there is produced annually not less than ten million pounds of wool. This sells at from 20 to 30 cents per pound, yielding to the farmers annually the sum of $2,500,000. The tariff on wool of the quality raised here is about ten cents per pound, that is one million dollars. Those who, like THE OREGONIAN, advocate free trade, claim that the tariff on an article adds that much to the price, that is, the tariff on wool increases the price in Oregon ten cents per pound, giving to the farmers one million dollars annually. Absolute free trade then would take from our farmers one million dollars each year."

The claim that the farmers of Oregon derive great benefit from "protection" of their wool is urged by our protectionists on all occasions. They who urge it seem to imagine that it fully answers all objections against the tariff system as an oppressive one to our section, inasmuch as the advantages received from protection of our wool exceed the losses we suffer from obstruction of general trade and enhancement of prices for the benefit of eastern manufacturers. But the fact is that our wool here is not protected at all. Wool of quality equal to ours is worth more in London than our wool is worth here. Latest London quotations show prices ranging all the way from 12 cents for the poorest to 45 cents for the best. The average is better than the 20 to 30 cents a pound which the Statesman boastingly says our farmers receive.

We send our surplus wool to the eastern states. The route of transport is a long, slow and expensive one. This, in spite of a protective tariff, gives foreign wool, on the whole, an advantage over ours. So that all the benefit our farmers get from protection of wool is infinitessimal, if it is anything. We suppose no one would imagine that wool from foreign countries would be shipped, under free trade, in any considerable quantity into Oregon to compete with the home product, when better prices might be realized by shipping it to Glasgow or London.

PLACE-HUNTING.

When the late Senator Chandler was secretary of the interior, a member of congress asked, or rather demanded, of him the appointment of a friend in his department. "But there is no vacancy," replied Chandler. "Can't you make one?" queried the member. "Well," said the secretary, "here is the list of officials in this department. They are all competent and efficient. Will you be good enough to name the one I shall displace?" Of course, the congressman did not take that responsibility.

Now, it will be said that this sort of doctrine will give us an office-holding class—a bureaucracy. Suppose it does. Better an office-holding class than an office-seeking one. Whatever may be said of what are called professional politicians, the public service should be a profession. Men must qualify themselves for the duties of their position, and they must have time to do it. They must also have incentives. They must be offered a career. If not, the offices will pass into the control of shysters and adventurers. In what part of our public service is a satisfactory career now offered? How many, even of our most successful public men, have reached a satisfactory and well rounded summit of success and usefulness? How many have gone to their graves in bitterness, or died by violence, or disappointment? Where is there one, to-day, who is really to be envied? How much more enviable the position and the career of the business man who acquires a competency, not to say a fortune—or, if he does not acquire a fortune, lives at least in peace?

Many men appear to have tired of politics, since they have so narrowed the range of their exertions that they look only to office-holding employments. It would not be so objectionable if they possessed real fitness. But they do not. They possess no fitness whatever for public duty, and are useful only for hack service to professional politicians. There are evils here which must be corrected, and if the republican party does not take it vigorously in hand it cannot fail to suffer for its obvious neglect of duty. It is not professional office-holding that is objectionable in itself, but professional place-hunting, in the following of a boss politician, who is ready always to corrupt the public service to attain his own ends.

"INSPIRED" CRIME.

Fortunately the trial of the assassin of President Garfield will soon be concluded. Whatever verdict the jury may render, the country will not believe this incarnation of diabolism irresponsibly insane. The defense is based on the assumption that the assassin was the victim of an overmastering delusion. He himself calls it an "inspiration." That is, he claims he was inspired of God to kill President Garfield. Let this be admitted as a good defense, and men in public life will soon have reason to apprehend the danger they are in from disappointed and revengeful political scoundrels. But passing this by, how far is the "inspiration" theory entitled to consideration? Should not the notoriously hypocritical life and lying habits that this assassin has indulged for more than half an ordinary lifetime be sufficient to cause the instant rejection of such a claim? Not a man living who knew his habits would have lent him five dollars on his promise of payment in a week. Why? Because he has been a lying dead-beat for years, lying and defrauding at every opportunity, a shyster of the lowest type, a robber of boarding house women, a nuisance to churches, a scoundrel in his treatment of his wife, and altogether one of the most debased and infamous of all creatures in human form. It is clear that no word which this monster of fraud and infamy utters is entitled to one particle of credit, unless substantiated by other testimony. His cant about "inspiration,"—a phrase he never used till he was brought to trial—his appeals to President Arthur to save him, and his flap-doodle speeches, closely analyzed, all point with certainty to the conclusion that he is playing a part. The extraordinary spectacle has been presented of a murderer trying to prove himself insane, arguing before court and jury to prove it, and evincing disappointment and rage as witness after witness has borne testimony to his accountability. "Inspiration" and "delusion" will not stand against the single fact that this bloody scoundrel made preparation for the murder with utmost deliberation. He bought a pistol and practiced shooting with the industry of a duelist for six weeks, in order to acquire skill. He had a motive sufficient to kindle the spirit of revenge, when his claim for a consulate was denied, and he was shown the door at the White House. He wrote a religious pamphlet, and cooly calculated on an immense sale, on account of the notoriety he would gain from killing President Garfield. Then he watched his chance, and on one or two occasions refrained from perpetrating the crime because Mrs. Garfield was close by, or some other cause. And when he had finally dogged the president till he got his nerve up to the shooting point, he planned for an escape by engaging a hackman to take him away, and anticipating a miscarriage of this plan, had the precaution to make an effort to secure a sufficient guard to the jail. All these facts and many more which will suggest themselves to every reader, show a mind singularly alert, adapted to the most heinous villainy, and endowed with a most extraordinary, systematic persistence. Having learned from the newspapers that Garfield would leave for Long Branch at a given hour, he is promptly there, and walks up and down the railway platform, working himself up to the murdering point. Weave all these facts together, and where is the shadow of insanity? Judged by an infallible standard, he has not, indeed, a balanced mind, nor has any deliberate criminal; but his mental infirmity, that which naturally attends the immorality and scoundrelism of a lifetime, is of a kind that should be discouraged by hanging. A great crime, deliberately perpetrated, is not evidence of insanity, but of purposeful wickedness; and while insanity may not be punished, depravity, when it blossoms into crime, must not obtain the immunity it blasphemously claims under pretense of divine inspiration.

The San Francisco chamber of commerce is justly concerned about the inefficiency of the defences of the Golden Gate. The small batteries posted beside that free channel could accomplish no more in the way of obstruction to an invading fleet than so many popguns; and such a fleet could demolish the city without encountering more than a mere masquerade of resistance. Columbia river defences also are in a wretched state. The few guns at Fort Canby are mounted on frail wooden platforms which could not stand the jar of an hour's steady firing, and since the sands have shifted Fort Stevens is out of range of the channels. A hostile fleet could file into the river, demolish Astoria, then come up the river and turn its guns on Portland without meeting any resistance which it could not laugh to scorn. Recent diplomatic jars with Chili, a comparatively strong naval power, suggest the importance of efficient equipment of coast forts.

Henry W. Elliott of the Smithsonian Institute contributes to the Nation a letter on the fruits of the Pacific coast. He speaks particularly of California fruits, but says briefly of this section: "The apples and pears of Oregon, Washington territory and lower British Columbia are simple in their excellence and fine flavor—as good as our own; the plums, apricots and nectarines superior to ours, and equal to the best Canadian orchards; while the peach and the grape are not successful on their soils and in their early October frosts. With regard to cherries and all the small fruits, I may say without reservation that their quality on the Pacific coast is fully equal to our own in excellence. When the size and flavor of the products of the vegetable garden are considered, the general average is a very high one, especially so in the cultivated sections of Northern California, Oregon and Puget Sound."

In Philadelphia there is a society which calls itself "The Indian Treaty-Keeping and Protective Association." It proposes to petition to congress for apportionment of land in severalty to Indians, the education of their children, the recognition of their personality and rights under the law, and the strict maintenance of treaties with all the tribes. The president and secretary of the interior have already made various important recommendations to congress touching these subjects. The most important thing congress can do for the Indians is to educate their children, and congressmen can not be too vigorously petitioned for liberal appropriations in that behalf. If the matter were attended to as it ought to be, no savages would exist in this country after the present generation passes away.

Of all the diplomatic blunders ever imposed upon this country the greatest is the Halifax fishery award. It provides large payments by the United States to England for the privilege of fishing in British-American waters, and although these payments are regularly made, our fishermen are driven by violence and threats of violence from the fishing grounds. The terms of the agreement are so carelessly drawn that nobody knows just what our rights are. Atlantic fishermen are not the only sufferers. Some time ago an Oregon company fitted out a schooner for halibut fishing in waters off Cape Flattery and norward. Two fairly profitable trips were made, and the schooner attempted a third, when her captain was warned officially by her majesty's man at Victoria that Americans could not be allowed to fish in British Columbia waters, and that he would avoid unpleasant consequences by sailing away. The captain took the hint and went home without a cargo. Tedious correspondence between the owners of the vessel and the government as to American rights, failed of definite answer, and they gave up the halibut enterprise in disgust.

Neither the bill proposed by Orth of Michigan, providing that bigamy or polygamy shall disqualify a delegate from a territory, nor any of the dozen other small measures suggested, can ever if adopted have any effect but to antagonize the Mormons, and excite their resentment. Schemes which merely annoy the Mormons help to keep alive their zeal in Mormonism. Our territorial laws cannot master the special vice and crime of Utah—let congress enact new laws which can. Let it be enacted that trials for bigamy shall come before a United States judge and not before a jury of bigamists. Let common fame in such cases be convicting evidence. Let the person of the judge be protected by the government. And then leave polygamy to the law.

Reports from the Flathead Indian reservation in western Montana state that a number of that tribe of Indians have menaced the lives of the Northern Pacific surveyors now at work there, and will not allow them to proceed. They say they do not want the rail road to cross their lands, and although the consent of the chief has been obtained, they will permit no further operations and defy his authority. Work on the line is therefore necessarily suspended until military protection can be obtained. The consequence is a vexatious delay.

Subscriptions to the bonds of the Oregon Short Line railroad are selling readily in Boston and other money centers. The understanding that the bonds will be guaranteed by the Union Pacific makes them a favorite investment.

OF SAN FRANCISCO,

Friday Evening, January 30th,

AT THE

UNITARIAN CHAPEL.

THOSE WHO HEARD MR. WIGGIN IN HIS former lecture on Gambetta and Bismarck, look for a strong analysis of the great Russian spectre of Nihilism in this Lecture. That the subject is still poorly understood in America, is illustrated in nearly every newspaper of the land. Wendell Phillips says: "Of all the cant in a canting world, the cant of Americans in assailing Nihilism is the most disgusting."

Admission, 25 Cents.

Select Music will precede the Lecture.

THE SMALLPOX.

Within two weeks eight cases of smallpox have been discovered in this city and reported to Chief of Police Lappeus. In no case was it possible to ascertain where the patient contracted the disease. Following are the cases at the smallpox hospital:

The Mooney girl, convalescent.

Johnny Mooney, admitted 6th inst., very severe case of confluent.

Mrs. Charles Brandley, serious.

Miss Josephine Merton, severe but not dangerous.

Nellie Dally, daughter of the notorious Mrs. Dally, admitted yesterday; varioloid.

Following are the cases in the city limits:

Mrs. Wm. Daly, jr., No. 85 North Sixth street, near E, varioloid.

Miss Bubb, sister of Mrs. Daly, No. 85 North Sixth street, varioloid.

One year old child of N. Olsen, Thirteenth street, between F and G, serious case of confluent.

The dwelling of Mrs. Dally, corner of Seventh and E, was thoroughly disinfected last night and then quarantined. It is not unlikely that other cases will develop in this house. Chief of Police Lappeus visits the hospital regularly every day and sees that patients are properly cared for. Dr. F. E. Meyer, the city physician, attends as occasion requires.

NEWS NOTES FROM YAQUINA BAY.

[OCCASIONAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

NEWPORT, BENTON CO., Jan. 8, 1882.

The Oneatta sawmill machinery was shipped to Portland to-day for repairs on the Emily Stevens.

The Oregon Pacific Railway have three locomotives en route from San Francisco, in sailing vessels.

The Oregon Pacific Railway Co. have about one hundred men employed making grade on the rocky points.

The weather here has been very fine. We have had no frost yet, and the grass is as green as in the spring.

Vice-President Wallace Nash was in town this week looking after railroad matters and making arrangements for letting a contract to build another sawmill.

The government improvement stands the heavy incoming seas remarkably well, considering its unfinished and unprotected state, and has lost only a few mats.

The demands for lots, to be used for building purposes, in the new railroad town Yaquina, is immense, although the books for sale of them have not yet been opened.

A novel boat race took place at Oneatta, the contestants being Mr. Daugherty and a lady of that place. During the night previous to the race some boys nailed a coal oil can to the bottom of Daugherty's boat, and not discovering it until he had begun the race, he of course was badly beaten.

BRIEF MENTION.

Slight sprinkle of snow last night.

Board of fire delegates meet to-night.

Mr. S. E. Young, one of Albany's leading merchants, is in the city.

A runaway team yesterday broke down the awning in front of Linderman's cigar store on First street.

Old man Stoughton, who killed Sullivan near St. Helens, is over seventy-four years old. He will be tried in April.

Yesterday 52 acres of the Kelly claim, near the new town of Waverly, east of the car shops, was sold to S. Frank for $18,000.

Mr. Tom Mountain, driver of Three's, fell in the engine house by slipping on the floor, and severely wrenched his back. The injuries will probably confine him to bed for some days.

THE INDIAN MURDERER.

Interview with "Tommy-Hop-Towne" the Evening before the Execution—No Death-bed Repentance.

(SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE OREGONIAN.)

YAKIMA CITY, W. T., Jan. 9—5 P. M.

To-morrow at 1 o'clock Tommy-Hop-Towne, the last but one of the survivors of the notorious Perkins murderers, will pay the penalty of his crime by hanging by the neck until he is dead. Your correspondent, in company with Rev. J. H. Wilbur, agent of the Yakima reservation, and Abe Lincoln, the government interpreter, repaired to the county jail and interviewed the condemned man.

On entering the cell we found Tommy reclining on his cot. He raised on his elbow and with a smile extended his hand to welcome us. He said he was not able to get up on account of a gunshot wound in his leg, which was inflicted at the time of his capture. A shackle with a chain was attached to one leg, the other end of the chain having been fastened to the wall. Father Wilbur told Tommy that to-morrow he must surely die, and that as he had expressed a desire to talk to him, he should open his heart and his thoughts freely. In a very low tremulous voice Tommy said: "I have but few things to say and my mind is fixed on those. The whites have made the laws against me. I have been tried in the courts, condemned and my time has almost come. We were all made by the same being and of course are amenable to the same laws. Since my confinement I have been thinking of all the good words I have spoken and the good deeds I have done. I believe in the law of the land and the law of God. I know that those who sin against God should be punished. The Lord guards over both the Indians and the whites. He stands between us now whilst we are talking and we are raising our right hands to him." Tommy rose a little higher on his pillow and said, "We were all made by the same God and there is only one law for both the Indians and the whites, one heaven and one Savior. Father Wilbur, you have come down to see me and I want to hear what you have to say to me."

Father Wilbur said, "There is one great law given both to the Indian and the white man. We are all brothers and this law says brother shall not kill brother, and whosoever violates this law shall be killed also. This is the law, Tommy, which you violated and for this you will suffer death to-morrow. If you had not broken God's law you would not have to lose your life. Are you sorry that you committed the murder? And if you were allowed to live would you ever do so again? When Jesus was here he had many enemies and they killed him by nailing him to the cross, but he prayed that his murderers might be forgiven. Now if you have great sorrow for your deed Jesus will see your sorrow, and you must pray to him and he will forgive you, although you are a poor man, in jail and to be hanged to-morrow, the Great Spirit will pardon all your sins. Tommy, are you very, very sorry? Come, open your heart and tell me truly."

Tommy now raised himself up and leaned against the wall of his cell and said: "When I was brought before the court, I expected to have a talk, but the whites did all the talking. I had no chance to say anything. I want to say, that while growing up from by boyhood, I missed the trail, the good trail, and by so doing I fell over the bank. I told the judge that I was very sorry. I knew that I did wrong, I am now sorry for my soul after death."

Father Wilbur—Do you feel that the Great Spirit has forgiven you?

Tommy—I know I did wrong.

W.—It is done and you cannot undo it, so just ask God to take away your bad heart and give you a good heart. Would you like to hear me pray for you?

T.—I know that what you have told me about God and the law is true. I knew that before, but there were only two whites killed and two of my brothers were hanged for this offense, and I think the whites ought to be satisfied now, and let me go. I think I will be forgiven for this deed.

Father Wilbur again asked if he should pray for him, and Tommy answered that it is a long way from here to where these prayers go. I know Jesus died, I knew that long ago he died and went to Hell, and in three days he arose and went to Heaven, and told all of us to follow him.

Father Wilbur offered a prayer which was interpreted to the prisoner, and our interview closed. The prisoner seems very low in spirits and resigned to his fate.

KRITO.

SUPREME COURT.

Court met at 9 o'clock A. M., pursuant to adjournment. Present a full bench.

State of Oregon, resp., vs. Thomas Jackson, app. Judgment of the court below affirmed. Opinion by Lord, C. J.

SYLLABUS.

There is no precise age within which children are excluded from giving testimony. Their competency is to be determined, not by age, but by the degree of their understanding and knowledge.

To enable them to testify it is essential that they should have sufficient intelligence to observe and narrate, and a due sense of the nature and obligations of an oath.

It is for the court to decide the question of their competency, when they are offered as witnesses, and its decision cannot be reviewed unless there is clear abuse of its discretion, or the violation of some legal principle in admitting or rejecting such witnesses.

And whenever in such case it is proposed by a bill of exceptions to show that the conclusion reached by the court was an erroneous exercise of, or an abuse of its discretion, it must contain all the evidence upon which such conclusion was founded, and unless this is made to appear in the bill of exceptions, either expressly or by necessary implication, the presumption of other and sufficient evidence to support the finding or decision of the court will be presumed by the appelate court.

Van B. DeLashmutt vs. John Sellwood, substituted for Peter Sykes; appeal dismissed.

OREGON TO MASSACHUSETTS.

Some time ago, Messrs Hodge, Davis & Co., of this city, read in a Massachusetts paper that Hon. Charles R. Ladd, auditor of that state, was afflicted with an incurable kidney disease, and had been obliged to give up work and return to his home. They immediately sent him a box of their celebrated Oregon Kidney Tea, and from time to time sent him other boxes. A few days ago they received from him the following letter:

COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS,
Auditor's Dep't, Boston, Nov. 11, 1881.

Messrs. Hodge Davis & Co: DEAR SIRS—I have no hesitation in saying that I have been much benefited by the use of the Oregon Kidney Tea as a remedy for a kidney difficulty which has troubled me for six or eight years. I can heartily recommend it to those who are similarly afflicted, as a safe and agreeable remedy. I shall test its virtues further, for I have great faith in it as a specific for many diseases of the kidneys. Respectfully yours,

CHAS. R. LADD.

The original of this letter can be seen by calling on Messrs. Hodge Davis & Co., Portland, Oregon, and the Oregon Kidney Tea can be bought of any druggist or dealer, in Oregon or Washington. Price $1 per box.

LIBRARY ASSOCIATION

Of the Santiam Academy at Lebanon, Or.—Good Prospects for a Permanent Library.

[OCCASIONAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE OREGONIAN]

LEBANON, Linn Co., Or., Jan. 10, 1882.

Pursuant to previous notice a meeting was held at Santiam academy Saturday evening, Jan. 7th, for the purpose of organizing an association to secure a permanent library for the academy. The following named officers were elected:

President—J. L. Gilbert.
Vice president—Jas. L. Cowan.
Secretary—John H. Marks, Jr.
Treasurer—Joseph Wasson.
Librarian—Frank Nickerson.

Stockholders are entitled to one vote for each share of stock they hold. Value of shares is $250 each. Receipts of the evening were $72 50. The amount of stock subscribed to date is $125. Considerable interest was manifested by those present, and the prospects are encouraging for the success of the enterprise. It is thought that $250 additional can be obtained. The academy already has a library of 150 volumes, donated by the Euphronean Society, and the new addition will greatly enhance its value.

THE PACIFIC COAST.

CALIFORNIA.

Chamber of Commerce Election.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 10.—The annual election of officers of the chamber of commerce was held today. The meeting was largely attended, 85 votes being cast. Of the regular ticket the following officers were elected: President, W. F. Babcock, first vice president, A. P. Williams; trustees, Andrew Welch, A. Cheesbrough, S. L. Jones, Claus Spreckels, Robert Balfour, A. B. Elfelt and Eugene de Sabla. The opposition ticket elected two trustees, W. W. Dodge and Levi Strauss. The second vice presidency resulted in a tie between E. D. Heatly on the regular ticket and W. J. Adams. Three trustees on each ticket were also tied. At the annual meeting of the chamber of commerce next Tuesday, the tie votes will be decided and the full board of twelve trustees will take seats.

Grain Speculating Scheme.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 11.—A movement is afoot amongst members of the Produce Exchange to start wheat speculation here on the Chicago system. If possible the exchange will be induced to take it up. Otherwise those members forming the project will combine with the mining stock operators who are tired of the dullness in their line of business, and commence operations. Shippers generally oppose the project, which is urged mainly by commission merchants, and there is little doubt will be carried out within a few months.

Powder Works Explosion.

An Oakland dispatch reports the Hercules powder works at Pinole blown up, several men hurt and some killed. No particulars.

Later—A dispatch from Pinole says either the mixing house or boiler house near it, blew up. Seven buildings were wrecked and one Chinaman killed and two Chinamen and several whites wounded. A San Rafael dispatch says the explosion shook the houses as if by an earthquake and Livermore telegraphs an earthquake at the corresponding hour, which was evidently due to the explosion. The shock was not noticeable in this city.

Visalia's Vivacity.

VISALIA, Jan. 10.—An enthusiastic meeting of prominent citizens of Visalia was held this afternoon to take steps toward inducing the Atlantic & Pacific road to pass through Visalia. There was a large attendance and several speeches indicating a readiness to extend substantial encouragement were made. A committee was appointed to prepare a prospectus to be forwarded to the railroad authorities. The sense of the meeting was expressed by a resolution that Visalia will guarantee right of way through the city and vicinity, and also depot sites. The meeting adjourned till Saturday, January 14, to hear the report of the committee. The whole county is aroused.

List of Insurances.

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 10.—The following list embraces the insurances, with a few trifling exceptions, on the property burned here: Commercial Union, $4000; California, $2000; Home Mutual, $2000; Hamburg-Madgeburg, $2500; Transatlantic, $7000; North British, $1000; Liverpool, London & Globe, $17,000; Hartford, $2000; Imperial London N. & Q., $3000; Royal & Norwich Union, $4000; Scottish Union, $1500; total, $46,500. The actual losses are estimated at $70,000.

Bankrupted by Fire.

Vignola & Sons, the heaviest losers, to-day made an assignment to J. G. Deming, of Deming, Palmer & Co., for the benefit of creditors. The assignment is said to meet the approbation of Los Angeles and San Francisco creditors.

Accidentally Shot Himself.

MERCED, Jan. 10.—W. Stedman, a hunter, was accidentally killed by the discharge of his gun near Dover on the San Joaquin river in this county, yesterday forenoon.

A Lively Land Leaguer in Merced.

MERCED, Jan. 11.—T. W. Healey, member of parliement from Wexford, Ireland, and one of the leaders of the Irish people in the present struggle, arrived this morning by the southern route. He was met at the depot by officers of the land league and many others, and escorted to his hotel. During the day he was called on by leading citizens, Americans as well as Irishmen. Mr. Healey addressed an audience this evening, Judge Marks presiding. He will speak in several other interior towns and cities and will arrive in San Francisco next Tuesday, in time for a reception to be tendered him and Mr. O'Connor on that day.

NEVADA.

A Mortuary Matter.

VIRGINIA, Jan. 10.—The remains of Henry A. Jones, brother of Senator J. P. Jones, who died day before yesterday, were last evening sent to San Francisco to be deposited in the family vault.

Comstock Notes.

Owing to heavy blasting at the 2400 foot level of Savage at the foot of the incline, the water has gone down 20 feet since last night.

Cross-cuts in the Union and Mexican on the 2700 foot level are still finding stringers of quartz and seams of low grade ore.

Snow Flakes.

A heavy snow storm is raging here this afternoon.

WASHINGTON TERRITORY.

Pilot Schooner Damaged.

PORT TOWNSEND, Jan. 11.—Pilot schooner Lottie, Capt. W. H. Stevens, arrived from the straits to-day in a leaky condition and sails split, having experienced a very heavy bar off Quillihute river. A marine survey was held, and damages estimated at about $1000; insured.

BRITISH COLUMBIA.

Victoria Notes.

VICTORIA, Jan. 10.—Steamship G. W. Elder sailed for San Francisco at noon to-day with 1063 tons of freight and the following passengers: Jas W Douglas, J McCaten, Mrs Bushby, Mrs R Mitchell, Mrs Rowland, Miss P Phillips, Marcus Wolfe, A Redon, Albert M Kouhlberg, Mrs M Jameson, Wm Pierce and wife, John Tomkins, F A Spellsburg, Wm Sterling, James Stewart, Mrs A R Robertson and family, D M Eberts, John Donovan, A W Davis, Jas Crawford, and four in the steerage.

Coal has been discovered at Ross bay, within a few hundred feet of the city limits.

A light fall of snow this morning, the first of the season. Wind northeast.

An American three-masted schooner, the Sadie Carile, arrived Sunday from San Diego, and has gone to Nanaimo to load with coal.

The British ship Earl of Elgin, bound for Hastings' mills, passed up to-day.

THE NORTHWEST.

Eastern Oregon.

More pork will be cured in Union county than at any previous season.

There were 28 criminal cases begun in the circuit court for Union county during 1881, besides 75 civil suits.

Union County Record: Eagle valley, Union county, is truly a garden spot of great promise. The climate of this fertile spot is very mild, more so than any other portion of eastern Oregon, and corn, tomatoes, sweet potatoes, grapes and melons grow finely and attain a size and excellency unequaled. The late Jos. Gale sold $2000 worth of produce raised on 16 acres of ground; Mr. Jos. Beck raised 100 bushels of beans on three acres of ground; D. Nichols raised on one-quarter of an acre of ground 10,000 pounds of potatoes; C. Craig raised 2000 pounds of potatoes on one and one-eighth of an acre; M. Reeves raised 2000 pounds of grapes; G. E. Holcomb sold $250 worth of vegetables from two and a half acres. There was raised in the valley this year 60,000 pounds of beans, 75,000 pounds of potatoes, and other products in proportion.

Western Oregon.

A lodge of good templars was established at Mehama last week with twenty charter members. The prospects are that the lodge will soon have eighty or one hundred members.

The Oregon state temperance alliance will meet at Salem on the 15th of February. A reduction of 60 per cent. on regular traveling fares will be allowed delegates by the O. & C. R. R. and W. O. R. R. and a reduction of 40 per cent. will be allowed by the O. R. & N. Co. Round trip tickets good from the 13th to the 20th, inclusive, will be sold.

CAUSE AND EFFECT.

The main cause of nervousness is indigestion, and that is caused by weakness of the stomach. No one can have sound nerves and good health without using Hop Bitters to strengthen the stomach, purify the blood, and keep the liver and kidneys active, to carry off all the poisonous and waste matter of the system. See other column.—Advance.

Have Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry always at hand. It cures Coughs, Colds, Bronchitis, Whooping Cough, Croup, Influenza, Consumption, and all Throat and Lung Complaints. 50 cents and $1 a bottle.

Ye Fair Ones, who so gracefully preside at your husbands' hospitable boards, should furnish his guests with Hub Punch, which eclipses in flavor all punches hastily made. Mix it either with fine ice or hot water.

Sold by all Grocers, Wine Merchants and Druggists. Trade supplied by Richardson & Harrison, Agents for Pacific coast, San Francisco.

It is said that the remarkable tonic and blood purifier known as King of the blood, by reason of its rare ingredients, costs as much to manufacture as some so-called remedies are sold at; yet, though on a small margin, its sale is so large that its price is reasonable. See Advertisement.

FINANCE AND COMMERCE.

London Stock Quotations.

LONDON, Jan. 10.—Consols, 99 12-16@100.

WEDNESDAY EVENING, Jan. 11.

The wheat market continues dull on the other side, and of course our market follows in close sympathy. Nominal quotation—$1 57½ per cental; nothing doing.

Two engagements are announced to-day—the Charlwood, 837 tons, 76s 9d, U. K., and the Castlehead, 825 tons, same rate.

NEW YORK FREIGHTS AND MARKETS.

NEW YORK, Jan. 10.—The freight market does not respond as promptly as was anticipated it would after the New Year, owing to slow deliveries by manufacturers as well as by railway companies. However, there is a very fair amount of freight going forward and vessels on both are doing very well. The Samuel Watts has cleared and will sail to-morrow. The Reuce will finish this week. Rates remain quite firm at previous quotations. Tonnage is still dull and wanted.

The latest charters are the ship Merom, 1204 tons, and James Drummond, 1556 tons, both to arrive, from Philadelphia to San Francisco with general cargo.

Steamer freights have been quite active and the departure to-day had a very full cargo for California.

Markets are generally quiet.

Wheat—Dull and lower. Under disappointing foreign dispatches exporters are doing little or nothing.

Pork—Nominal.

Lard—2½@5c higher and more active.

Rio Coffee—Dull and a quarter lower.

Refined Sugars—Have recovered somewhat from the first flush of excitement after the burning of the principal refinery here, and have undergone some modification on the extreme advance, which was 3⅛c, and the tone is rather easier. The burned refinery had a capacity of 4000 to 5000 barrels per day.

Hides—Moderately active at a decline; sales, 2300 California at 22½c, 823 do private.

Turpentine—Dull and easier.

Crude Oils—Firm and quiet.

Quicksilver—Dull at 41½c.

THE BOSTON WOOL MARKET.

BOSTON, Jan. 10.—The demand is steady and market firmer. Finer grade of wool are most in request and sales of Ohio and Pennsylvania fleeces have been 43½c for X, 44@46c for XX and XXX and above. Michigan and Wisconsin fleeces are steady and firm 42@43c for X medium, and No. 1 fleeces range from 46@48c. Michigan and Wisconsin combing and delaine and fine combing are worth 47@50c. Coarse combing is quiet and prices unchanged. In unwashed fleeces sales continue to range from 25@35c for medium, the latter price for selected lots, 25@33½c for fine, and 18@23c for low and coarse. California wool is in fair demand at low prices for defective southern. Pulled wools are firm. Choice supers are scarce. We quote choice at 52½c for eastern and Maine and 30@33c for common and good. In foreign wools very little has been done for some days. Fine foreign continues to be held firm.

San Francisco Produce Quotations.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 11.—Corn—Higher, $1 72½. Beans—Firmer; small whites, 4c.

Potatoes—Stronger; Petalumas, $1 50@1 60; Early Rose, $1 25; river reds, $1 20@1 20; sweets, $3 75@4.

Chicago Wheat Market.

CHICAGO, Jan. 11.—Wheat—Steady; $1 28⅜@1 28½ cash, $1 29¾ February.

SAN FRANCISCO MARKETS.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 11.

Receipts—Wheat, 65,000 ctls; including 45,000 aboard ship; flour, 4500 qr sks; potatoes, 1500 sks; eggs, 15,500 doz.

Wheat—The market is firm with a good demand. Among sales were the following: 950 tons No. 1 shipping, $1 70; 1500 tons good shipping, $1 66¼; 150 tons fair shipping, $1 65; No. 1 shipping quotable at $1 67½@1 70.

Barley—The market is strong; sales choice brewing, $1 75; good coast feed, $1 67½; bay Chevalier feed, $1 60. There is a good demand.

Oats—Buyers and sellers disagree. Sellers are raising their pretentions. Market is strong at last quoted rates.

Corn—Offerings very small; small yellow sold at $1 72½.

Potatoes—Prices hardening; sales garnet Chili, $1 25½@1 30; Humboldt red, $1 05. Offerings are liberal but there is less selling pressure:

Onions—Market is well supplied; sales to-day at 60@70c from wharf.

Eggs—Market is steady at full prices, 34@36c.

Butter—Market weak at quotations last given; most sales at 35c for fresh roll.

CONSUMPTION CAN BE CURED!

Dr. Wm. Hall's

For the LUNGS. Balsam

Cures Consumption, Colds, Pneumonia, Influenza, Bronchial Difficulties, Bronchitis, Hoarseness, Asthma, Croup, Whooping Cough, and all diseases of the Breathing Organs. It soothes and heals the membrane of the Lungs, inflamed and poisoned by the disease, and prevents the night sweats and tightness across the chest which accompany it. CONSUMPTION is not an incurable malady; it is only necessary to have the right remedy, and HALL'S BALSAM is that remedy. DON'T DESPAIR OF RELIEF, for this benign specific will cure you, even though professional aid fails.

Ask for WM. HALL'S BALSAM, and take no other.
